Description and Sources

Description

Churchyard cross. Probably C15 or C16 with mid-to late C19 alterations. Red sandstone. Square base and octagonal shaft with broach stops to square base. C19, cast-iron top with cross <2>

Evaluated for MPP in 1990-1, Medium score as one of 31 Standing Crosses <3>

Scheduled in 1996. Scheduling description: ->

-> The monument includes a standing stone cross situated in the churchyard of St Chad's, Norton in Hales, c.5m south of the south chapel. The cross takes the form of a socket stone and shaft, both medieval in date, with a 19th century cross head, and is Listed Grade II. The socket stone is square in plan with sides of 0.7m, and is 0.35m high. It has chamfered edges. The shaft is also square in plan at the base, and has chamfered angles above broached stops. It measures 0.4m in width at the base and is 1.65m high. Both socket stone and shaft are of 15th or 16th century date. The top of the cross is a 19th century restoration, and takes the form of an octagonal block, 0.35m in diameter and 0.12m high, which forms the base for an ornate cast iron cross head <4>

Photograph taken on the 9th October 2015. <5>

Description and Sources

Description

During the last 50 years (writing in 1861) the offices and stables of the old moated hall of Bellaport (which has been destroyed) have been used as farm buildings. <1a>

Early in this (C19) century the old house was taken down. It was surrounded by a moat, and stood in an extensive park. (Sketch based on an old drawing accompanies this note) <2>

Evaluated for MPP in 1990-1, Low score as one of 133 Moated sites. <4>

Home of the Grosvenor family, and from 1634 the Cottons. . . .Probably in the late 17th century the Hall was remodelled; by then it occupied the whole width of the site. <5>

In 1927-8 the surviving part of the Old Hall was occupied as a farmhouse.[<5 citing [<3>]>

See PRN 07564 for the evidence for both a formal garden and a park.<5>

Part of a wide moat possibly survives to the west of the modern farm. Whilst this may be a post medieval ornamental feature, based on a possible 16th century sketch of the house, it could well have been adapted from an earlier medieval moat.<6>

Description and Sources

Description

Dugout canoe of the Ellesmere-Astbury type was taken from the bed of the River tern in 1922. It lay on the bank of the river at SJ69833675 till 1926 when it was taken under cover <1a-1c>

The craft is square sectioned, square-ended, and flat bottomed, falling into Fox's Group IB type. No specific dating for this group has been assigned, but a developed example, the Walthamstow canoe, is said to have been found on the Roman level. <1d>

Description and Sources

Description

Parish church. C13 chancel, late C14 west tower and some probably C13 or C14 work in west-end of south aisle. Restored and rest rebuilt in 1864-5, and north transept and archway added in 1872.

Tower of red (with some grey) sandstone ashlar and chancel and west end of south aisle of dressed red and grey sandstone. C19 work of uncoursed red sandstone rubble with red sandstone ashlar dressings. Fishscale slate roofs. 4-bay nave and aisles with north baptistery, north transept with attached archway, chancel with north vestry, and west tower. C19 work in a C14 Gothic style.

Tower: 3 stages. Diagonal buttresses up to second stage with chamfered offsets, moulded string course to belfry, moulded parapet string with central carved gargoyles and battlemented parapet with chamfered coping and crocketed corner pinnacles. Louvered belfry openings of 2 cinquefoil-headed lights with cusped Y-tracery, chamfered reveals and hoodmoulds with carved stops. Sounding holes in second stage to north and south, each consisting of a quatrefoil set in a square panel. West window of 2 cinquefoil-headed lights with cusped Y-tracery, chamfered reveals and hoodmould with carved stops.

Small rectangular staircase windows in south-west corner. C19 neo-Norman west doorway with dogtooth and fleuron ornament, one order of twisted shafts with cushion capitals and broach-stopped bases, and boarded door with decorative strap hinges. Base built onto north has blocked Gothic doorway with hoodmould. Clock above sounding hole to south.

Nave and aisles: buttresses (diagonal at corners) with chamfered offsets, parapeted gable ends, with cross at apex to east and ridge cresting. Left-hand return front of south aisle with moulded string course at eaves level. Aisle windows of 2 cinquefoil-headed lights with cusped Y-tracery chamfered reveals and hoodmoulds with carved heads as stops. Trefoil clerestory windows, also with carved heads as stops to hoodmoulds.

Chancel: chamfered plinth to north, angle buttresses to east, parapeted gable end with cross at apex and ridge cresting.

Straight joint to left is probably blocked door or window. Chamfered round-arched (almost pointed-arched) north window and central C19 north doorway with roll-moulded arch and boarded door with strap hinges. Tudor-arched east window of 4 Tudor-arched lights and with hoodmould. The east wall appears to have been rebuilt at a later date (see straight joints to north and south).

North transept: diagonal buttresses with chamfered offsets. Windows to east and west, each of 2 cinquefoil headed lights with cusped Y-tracery, chamfered reveals and hoodmould with carved heads as stops. Doorway to west with chamfered arch, hoodmould with carved heads as stops and boarded door with strap hinges. Large north window of 3 cinquefoil-headed lights with Geometrical tracery, chamfered reveals and hoodmould with carved heads as stops.

Polygonal vestry in angle of transept with buttresses, pyramidal roof, chamfered arched window to right with hoodmould and chamfered-arched doorway to left with hoodmould and boarded door with strap hinges. Polygonal baptistery in angle of tower and north aisle with buttresses, pyramidal roof, and 3 chamfered-arched windows with hoodmoulds. Archway adjoining transept to north. Rubblestone with tooled dressings. Gothic arch with hoodmould and scalloped impost bands. Battlemented parapet above with chamfered coping, raised in centre with cross and niche to each side (that to west with small statue). Small carved shields in spandrels to west.

Interior: 4-bay nave arcades (C19 but possibly based on medieval fragments) consisting of octagonal piers with chamfered bases and moulded capitals, chamfered arches and hoodmoulds with carved heads as stops. Continuously double chamfered C15 tower arch (inner chamfer to west with impost band). Double-chamfered chancel arch (possibly incorporating some medieval work); outer arch with chamfered base and inner arch springing from marble colonnettes with carved stone corbels and stiff-leaf capitals. Chamfered north transept arch; octagonal pier with moulded capital. C19 four bay nave roof and 3-bay transept roof with braced collar trusses resting on carved brackets with pierced spandrels and springing from stone corbels carved as heads; pairs of purlins. Lean-to aisle roof with scalloped wall plates and carved rosettes. Ceiled wagon roof over chancel with moulded ribs dividing panels and springing from carved stone corbels. Chamfered-arched sedilia to south with trefoiled piscina to left. Chamfered-arched doorway from east end of north aisle to vestry; boarded door with strap hinges. Chamfered-arched C19 doorway between, tower and baptistery with boarded door. C19 boarded door to stair turret with chamfered square reveals. Fittings: tiles and mosaics to wall flanking east window with panelling below. C19 altar table and pair of large brass candlesticks. Altar rails of 1933-6 with turned balusters. C19 choir stalls with poppyheads, some with reused C17 panelling (with figures and arched panels etc.) and some with reused barley-sugar balusters to front. Brass eagle lectern. Organ in eastern bay of south aisle with painted timbers. C19 polygonal stone pulpit with Caernarvon-arched passageway to rear, stubby marble colonnettes to stem and top with carved capitals and moulded bases, carved panels between with the symbols of the evangelists, and carved stiff-leaf to frieze. C19 circular stone font consisting of clustered marble colonnettes to stem with carved capitals and moulded bases, 4 carved quatrefoil panels to bowl and wooden cover with wrought-iron cresting. C19 pews with arcaded backs and carved poppyheads with inscription s. Probably C18 raised and fielded wainscot panelling to nave, C19 choir stalls in transept with pierced frontal. 2 benefactors boards in north transept. Two C19 traceried half-glazed doors inserted beneath tower arch. Painted inscription above chancel arch: "THIS IS THE HOUSE OF GOD / THIS IS THE GATE OF HEAVEN". Probably C18 white and black stone floor to chancel. C19 stained glass in east window and some aisle windows. Hatchment beneath tower.

Monuments: Cotton monument in recess beneath tower dated 1606, by Inigo Jones. Alabaster. Sarcophagus base with harpies at corners, central winged angel and festoons between, 2 recumbent effigies with woman holding infant to bared breasts, pair of large flanking Corinthian columns with carved surface ornament and topped by shields, and back panel flanked by Corinthian pilasters with strapwork and topped by cornice and scrolled pediment with central shield and flanking putti. Small flanking carved figures on wall. Inscription on panel: "FRANCIS ELDEST DAUGHTER TO / SI R ROBERTE NEDHAM OF SHA / VINGTON IN THE COUNTIE OF / SALLOP KNIGHT AND W IFE TO / SR. ROWLAND COTTON OF AL / KINGTON IN THE COUNTIE / KNIGHT DYED IN CHILD BED BE / ING DELIVERED OF A DAUGHTER / WHO LIKEWISE DYED ON SON / DAYE A DAYE OF REST BEING THE / 23rd DAYE OF NOVEMBER ANNO DOMINI / 1606." Small wooden bird on hook over monument. A Flemish close helmet (c. 1540-80) also once hung above the monument (now on loan to the Tower of London). Other tablets beneath tower include: one (inscription illegible at time of survey - July 1986) with triangular pediment, flanking scrolls with carved drops, base with scrolled brackets, and central shield with flanking swags. One to Robert Davison (d. 10 October 1772) and his wife Rachel (d. 21 August 1762) with segmental pediment and swags. Tablet in north transept to Rowland Cotton of Etwall (d. 26 April 1753) and his wife Mary (d. 11 December 1761) consisting of large obelisk with scrolled brackets, flanking urns, cartouche in centre, and base with inscription and moulded cornice. Other C18 and early C19 memorial tablets. A monument to Samuel and Barbara Davison Erected 1757 by William Baker of Audlem (1705-1771). Two sepia photographs of the church after the C19 restoration are on display in the vestry along with a drawing of a house (probably the old vicarage <2>

Seven test-pits were excavated around the base of St Chad's Church, Norton in Hales, in 1999 as part of a pre-award requirement of a Faculty Condition from the Diocese of Lichfield, to reduce ground levels around the base of the church. A number of in situ as well as disarticulated human remains were encountered in the test pits, and a watching brief was recommended on subsequent trenching within the churchyard. <5>

Description

Three sides of a large rectangular moat surround the garden on the S side of Brand Hall (SA 14036). The SE and SW arms are waterfilled and only c 4-5m wide, having been narrowed by gardening activity. The NW arm though is up to 8m wide and is now dry, while the moat island measures c 70m E/W. Extending E from the SE arm is a large semi-circular waterfilled pond or depression and abutting onto this is well preserved ridge and furrow <1>

Photographed during aerial survey in 2009. <5>

Evaluated for MPP in 1990-1, Low score as one of 133 Moated sites. <6>

Description and Sources

Description

Act of Parliament 1826. Work started from the Nantwich Cheshire end towards High Offley, Staffs. John Wilson as contractor and Alexander Easton as resident engineer. Link with Donnington area and Shrewsbury considered. Possible extension of Donnington Wood Canal (PRN 03407) surveyed but found impractical, so branch from Norbury, Staffs to join Shrewsbury Canal (PRN 03410) at Wappenshall was chosen instead and authorised by an Act of 1827. Canal opened throughout including Newport branch 1835. ..Total length 39 1/2 miles from Autherley, Staffs to Nantwich..1845 amalgamated with Ellesmere and Chester Canal Co and took their name. became part of S.U.R. &CC 1846, leased by LNWR 1847. Part LMSR 1922. To British Transport Commission/British Waterways 1947. (29 locks) <1>

Description and Sources

Description

A chapel by tradition once existed at Betton <1>

Its site is probably marked by the field name Chapel applied to two fields on the E side of the Market Drayton road on the Tithe Map <2>

Tithe award transcription map indicates two or possibly three buildings (schematic depiction only) within Chapel field, located to the west of the current road. <3>

Chapel field was divided in two following the realignment of the road straight through the field at the end of the 19th century. The buildings noted on the Tithe award transcription map (schematic depiction only)[<3>] are not shown on this later map. <4>

No above ground evidence exists today. The 'Chapel', if existent, may have been part of the Monastic Grange at Betton established following the grant of lands in the 11th and 12th century (PRN 32514). <5>

Description and Sources

Description

Bellaport Old Hall, home of the Grosvenor family and from 1634 the Cottons, was partly demolished early in the 19th century. It stood within a square medieval moat [see PRN 01595]. Probably in the later 16th or earlier 17th century the Hall was remodelled; by then it occupied the full width of the site. A formal garden was laid out within the moat in front of it, with half being given over to a simple parterre. (T.S.A.S. 4 ser. 11 (1927-8), 94-9; F. Stackhouse Acton, Castles and Old Mansions of Shropshire [1868], 38-9). The Hall was approached from the south-west by a 300-yard long avenue (J. Rocque, Map of Shropshire (1752); still visible in 1870s: O.S. 6., IX.NE (1891)). In 1927-8 the surviving part of the Old Hall was occupied as a farmhouse (T.S.A.S. 4 ser. 11 (1927-8),95) <1>

[The old house] was surrounded by a moat, and stood in an extensive park. <1a>

The fields to the south of the Hall included ones called "Upper Park (No 1179), "Middle Park" (No 1180) and "Lower Park" (Nos 1181, 1182 and 1185). The field to the west was called "Hall Meadow" (No 1162) <2>

It has been suggested that the moat is part of the post medieval ornamental feature, particularly from evidence of a possible 16th century sketch of the house, although it could well have been adapted from an earlier medieval moat. <3>

Description and Sources

Description

Tunstall Hall, in Norton in Hales, is a nine-bay building of c.1732 (N. Pevsner, Shropshire (1958),305). In the late 19th century it had extensive ornamental and kitchen gardens, and was approached from the west by a short, tree-lined drive. South of the Hall, and partly bounded to the east by the river Tern, was a modest park crossed by drives giving access towards Market Drayton (O.S. 6, IX.SW (1889); IX.S E (1892); XVI.NW (1888)) <1>

Photographed during air photographic survey in 2007 (general shot). <4>

No archaeological finds or features were recorded during a watching brief on geotechnical works within the boundaries of the gardens, at Shiffords Bridge Pumping Station, in 2011. Substantial peat deposits were identified in all of the trenches. While undated, the presence of the peat deposits suggests that this area of the site is unlikely to have been occupied in recent times although the natural environment may have been exploited for food and materials. <5>

Description and Sources

Description

House. Mid-to late C18. Red brick with some grey sandstone ashlar dressings. Hipped slate roof, half-conical over bows. 3 storeys. Stone plinth and moulded stone cornice (returned to sides) with blocking course. Pair of brick ridge stacks off-centre to left and right, with projecting stone bands and toothed-brick cornices. 3:1:3 bays with full-height bows; glazing bar sashes with stone cills and lintels; central windows with moulded stone architraves, that on first floor also with balustrading beneath, frieze with paterae and moulded cornice. Central door with 6 raised and fielded panels, wreathed radial fanlight incorporating husks as spokes and wooden Ionic doorcase consisting of three-quarter columns supporting dossierets with fluted frieze and open triangular pediment. Left-hand return (garden front): pilaster strip to right (end of front wall). Plinth to right, plat band between ground and first floors and dentil brick eaves cornice (bricks on side). 3:1 bays; segmental-headed boxed glazing bar sashes to right with stone cills and full-height bow to left with half-conical roof and curved triple boxed glazing bar sashes with stone cills and lintels. C18 lead downpipe to right with straps and fluted semi-circular rainwater head. Right-hand return front: plat band and dentil brick eaves cornice. 2 bays; segmental-headed trompe-l'oeil glazing bar sashes, 2 to second floor and one to first floor at left. Segmental-headed ground-floor windows obscured by later lean-to. C18 lead downpipe to left with straps and fluted semi-circular rainwater head. 2 storey brick service wing at rear with brick ridge stack and external lateral stack. Probably early C20 projecting apsidal summerhouse with French casements flanked by full height horned glazing bar sashes, stone lintels, and half conical roof. Interior: C18 dog-leg staircase with landings around rectangular well; open string with cut brackets, fluted balusters (2 per tread), returning to landing, and wreathed moulded handrail with fluted foot newel. Round arched staircase window at rear. Two C18 oak doors to first-floor landing, each with 2 raised and fielded panels. Attic staircase with stick balusters. Left-hand ground-floor room: probably early C20 Ionic screen between room and entrance hall with 2 fluted columns and lugged architrave. Early C19 reeded fireplace surround with grate. Right-hand ground floor room: moulded-arched recess. Guilloche-ornamented frieze. C20 fireplace surround with C18 or early C19 cast-iron grate. Rear room has early C19 fireplace with reeded surround and cast-iron basket grate. Bedroom fireplaces with C18 basket grates and some plain C18 surrounds. C18 six-panelled doors throughout, some in round-arched openings. Panelled window shutters. The present occupier of the house (July 1986) reports that Sir Oswald Mosely lived here at some time. The darker brickwork of the second floor (see side walls) might indicate that this is an early C19 (see dentil brick eaves cornice) addition. However since the window details above and below the change are identical it is more likely that the top floor has been either rebuilt or simply that a different batch of bricks was used. <2>

COUNTRY HOUSE (circa 1700, Early 18th century to Late 19th century - 1700 AD to 1899 AD)

Evidence EXTANT BUILDING

Description and Sources

Description

Small country house. Circa 1700, incorporating C17 core. Further altered in the mid-C18 and extended in the early C19. Minor late C19 alterations at rear and internally.

Red brick with grey sandstone ashlar dressings. Some timber framing at rear with plastered infill. Plain tile roofs. Hipped slate roofs over early C19 wings. Irregular L-plan. 2 storeys and attic with 2-storey wings and rear wing. Chamfered plinths chamfered quoins, moulded stone cornice, coped parapet with short balustraded sections in front of pair of hipped dormers with 2-light wooden casements, and parapeted gable ends with stone copings and integral brick end stacks with stone bands and caps. Giant Tuscan order of pilasters (without entasis) supporting short sections of entablature and large 3-bay triangular pediment with carved Styche arms flanked by swags in tympanum. 2:3:2 bays; glazing bar sashes (bars removed from ground floor windows) with painted stone cills, gauged-brick heads and raised triple keystone with moulded top edge. Central 6-panelled door (upper 4 raised and fielded with beading and lower 2 beaded flush) with moulded wooden frame, and lugged moulded stone architrave supporting frieze and cornice. Flanking early C19 set-back 2-storey one-bay wings, each with dentil brick eaves cornice, (bricks on side) and deep eaves; glazing bar sashes (bars removed from ground-floor windows) with painted stone cills and gauged-brick heads. 2-bay right-hand return front, painted imitation sashes to first floor. 4-panelled door to right. Rear: central truncated timber framed gabled wing, underbuilt in painted brick. Irregular framing of former internal wall with angle braces and one blocked doorway with triangular-headed arch. Rendered gable set back to right with keyed lunette lighting staircase. Late C19 wing to left with service tower. Rear wing, south-west front: C17, remodelled in mid-C18. Dentil brick eaves cornice and parapeted gable end with stone coping and shaped kneelers. Integral brick end stack to left and brick ridge stack off centre to right. 3 hipped dormers with 2-light wooden casements and moulded wooden eaves cornices. 4-pane sashes with gauged-brick heads (ground floor) and painted stone cills; 1:5 first-floor windows, 3 to left with blind boxes, and 3-ground-floor windows, second and third from left with boxes. Pair of doorways to right; left-hand one with half-glazed door, plain lugged surround and moulded cornice and right-hand one with glazed door, C18 lugged moulded architrave, frieze and cornice. Eaves raised at rear; truncated former external brick stack with pitched-roofed link to main roof and later encased on each side (see straight joints). C18 first-floor sash with keyed gauged head. Interior: some C17 work, mainly C18 and some late C19 alterations.

Ground-floor right-hand (dining) room: early to mid-C18. Moulded plinth and dado rail, lugged plaster panels with acanthus ornament, reeded panels above doors, frieze and enriched plaster cornice. Enriched plaster ceiling with 6 panels. C19 wooden fireplace in a C17 style with surround, architrave frieze and cornice and C18 wooden overmantel consisting of panel with flanking quarter columns in angles, cornice with egg and dart enrichment and triangular pediment.

Left-hand ground-floor (drawing) room: remodelled in the late C19 (see also bay to south-west). Cased beam. C19 fireplace with ogee-stopped moulded surrounds, pulvinated frieze with carved ornament and moulded cornice.

Ground-floor rear room (rear wing): pair of mid C17 ovolo-moulded spine beams with ogee stops. Large mid-C17 dressed grey sandstone open fireplace with chamfered reveals and chamfered wooden lintel, with mason's mitre to corners. Entrance wall: moulded plinth and dado rail, panelling with rounded top corners, and ceiling with 6 panels and enriched plaster cornice. Pair of elliptical archways at end of hall, each with moulded capitals, panelled soffits and spandrels, and acanthus ornament. Left-hand arch leads to rear wing and right-hand to staircase. Dog-leg staircase of c. 1700 with half-landing, closed string with pulvinated frieze, turned balusters, moulded handrail and square newels. Balustrade curving at foot of stairs and returning to pier of arch, and also returning as landing balustrade. Panelling to staircase and first floor. Lunette lighting half-landing (see exterior) with shield in glass. Pair of elliptical arches at head of stairs. Plaster ceiling rose.

Left-hand first-floor rear room: mid-C17 fittings including oak panelling with fluted frieze, doors with 6 raised and fielded panels, and fireplace with overmantel consisting of 3 arches divided by pilasters. Cupboards with H-L hinges. 6-panelled doors throughout house with moulded architraves. The low floor to ceiling heights (especially to the first floor) of the front range suggest that this too is a rebuilding of a timber framed range, albeit a comprehensive one.

Brand Hall was formerly the family home of the Davison family. The styche arms in the pediment are probably a later addition as they were granted to Samuel Davison in 1737. William Baker carried out minor internal alterations for Robert Davison in 1756. In the early C19 Brand Hall was owned by Purney Sillitoe, John Soane's friend, and later by the Griffin family. The house stands within a small wooded park.

The imposing block added in the early 18C, originally had a large entrance hall more in keeping than the present hall with the grandeur of the engaged pilasters and armorial pediment of the façade. <9>

Description and Sources

Description

Small country house now old peoples' home. Circa 1732. Red brick with painted sandstone dressings. 2-span hipped plain tile roof. Double-pile plan. 3 storeys. Chamfered stone plinth, flat string course between ground and first floors, first-floor cill string, moulded stone cornice and parapet (rebuilt or repointed in C20) with stone coping. 4 brick stacks with stone copings, 2 to front, one to left-hand side, and one to rear. North-west (entrance) front: 9 bays; glazing bar sashes, those to second floor with moulded architrave, to first floor with lugged moulded architrave, frieze and cornice, and to ground floor with bracketed cill, lugged moulded architrave, frieze and triangular pediment. Central pair of doors with 4 raised and fielded panels and stone doorcase. Consisting of moulded architrave, hollow-panelled pilaster strips, frieze and console brackets supporting segmental pediment. 3 stone steps up to doors with flanking plain wrought-iron railings. Right-hand return front: 1:3 bays, ground-and first-floor glazing bar sashes to right with stone cills and gauged-brick heads with raised stone keystones. Full-height canted bay to right with recessed segmental sections at angles between straight sections to front and sides. Glazing bar sashes with painted stone cills and lintels (ground-floor sashes extending to floor level). Lead downpipe in angle to right with plain lead rainwater head. 5 bay left-hand return front with second-floor keyed glazing bar sashes. South-east (garden) front: 9 bays; glazing bar sashes with painted stone cills and gauged-brick heads with raised keystones (ground-floor sashes extending to floor level). Central pair of French casements with 6pane rectangular overlight and Gibbs surround, 5-part keystone, pulvinated frieze and triangular pediment. 6 red sandstone steps up to door. Service block to north-east: early C19. Two storeys. Coped parapet. 2-span roof with pairs of brick ridge stacks and external brick end stacks. 5 bays to front and 3 bays to rear; glazing bar sashes with painted stone cills and slightly segmental glazing bar sashes. Interior: mainly early C20, some rooms redecorated in the mid-C19. Entrance hall: full-height square room, articulated by 2 implied orders. Ground-floor triglyph frieze with guttae and alternating paterae and other motifs including bucrania, trophies etc., and moulded cornice. Raised and fielded first floor panelling above and enriched upper frieze with bead and reel and other ornament, and a modillion cornice with egg and dart enrichment and alternating paterae. Ceiling has oval panel with bold guilloche ornament and central rose with acanthus ornament. First-floor gallery to rear with turned balusters and panelled square dies, panelled soffit with egg and dart enrichment, and triglyph frieze to front, supported at each end on Doric pilasters. Ground-floor frieze continued into corridors beyond hall. 3 ground-floor doors at rear and doorways at each end of gallery. Windows with moulded architraves, those to first floor with enriched mouldings and panels between and beneath. Ground-floor shutters with raised and fielded panels. Fireplace to left with heavy eared stone architrave and panel above with quadrant corners; chimneybreast with double-quirked corners. Main staircase to right of hall: C18. Four flights around square well with landings, open string with cut brackets, 2 turned balusters per tread (some C20 replacements), moulded handrail and wreathed foot newel with symmetrical vase-shaped newel post. Panelled plaster soffit. Inserted mid-C19 staircase to left of entrance hall. Left-hand ground-floor front room: mainly mid-C19. Dado rail with Greek key ornament and moulded cornice. Fireplace with reeded surround. Elliptical-arched niche with panelled reveals, moulded architrave and continuous impost band with swags. Left-hand ground-floor rear (dining) room: mainly mid-C19. Enriched plaster frieze with anthemion and palmette ornament; 3-panelled ceiling divided by wide bands of vine trails with acanthus edging. C19 marble fireplace surround. Central ground-floor rear room: C19 Jacobean-style panelling with fluted frieze. Mid-C19 marble fireplace surround. Ground-floor right-hand end room: bay segmental on inside (see exterior). Enriched plaster frieze with egg and dart ornament and soffit with scrollwork. Central ceiling panel with acanthus edging and central plaster rose with scrollwork; outer band with square panels, each with central patera and anthemion border. Mid-C19 marble fireplace. Each doorway with lugged architrave, frieze and cornice. 6-panelled doors throughout with moulded architraves and windows with panelled shutters. First-floor rooms not inspected. Tunstall hall stands within a small wooded park. Buildings of England, p305 <2>

The Hall, with its emphasized distinction between the ground floor and the first and attic floors and its regularly spaced pedimented windows, is an exercise in Palladian motifs.<5>

Description and Sources

Description

Archway. Circa 1700. Red brick with grey sandstone ashlar dressings. Piers with plinths, chamfered quoins and impost bands to elliptical arch. Open triangular pediment. This is one of a pair of ornamental archways flanking the front of Brand Hall (qv). They mark the line of the carriage drive in front of the house and might formerly have formed part of a larger forecourt arrangement. Before the early C19 additions to the house they would have appeared more detached from the main block, to which they might have been physically attached by quadrant link walls. The old list description of the house (1959) states that the arches formerly contained ornamental lion gates. Both gates largely obscured by climbing plants at time of survey (July 1986). They mark the line of the carriageway in front of the house and might formerly have formed part of a larger forecourt arrangement. Before the early C19 additions to the house they would have appeared more detached from the main block, to which they might have been physically attached by quadrant link walls. The old list description of the house (1959) states that the arches formerly contained ornamental iron gates. Both gates largely obscured by climbing plants at time of survey (July 1986). Description and Sources

Description

Standing Stone-a sandstone pillar dresses to shape, with a dowel hole 4ins diameter and 5ins deep in the top. The stone is roughly square in plan, 6ft 5ins high, and 18ins diameter. It has been worn hollow all round for about 2ft up from the ground level, probably by animals. Date and purpose uncertain <1a>

The stone is 1.6m high and roughly circular in section above the hollow referred to. it shows little trace of weathering and I have the impression that it is not a prehistoric standing stone. OS FI 1962 <1>

Description and Sources

Description

Farmhouse. Late c16 or early C17, extended in the C17 and remodelled in the late C18 and early C19. Rendered timber frame, largely refaced or rebuilt in red brick. Plain tile roof. H-plan with baffle entry. One framed bay with gabled crosswings, of one bay to left and projecting of two bays to right. Later one bay addition to left. 2 storeys and attic, over basement to right. Plinth to right, plat bands to right and left-hand wings and parapeted gable end to left with stone coping and shaped stone kneelers. Plain barge boards with finials. Large dressed grey sandstone ridge stack with stone coping and top rebuilt or heightened in red brick. External lateral brick stack to right. 4:1 windows; one-, 2- and 3-light C19 wooden casements with painted stone cills and lintels. Door between second and third windows from left with 6 raised and fielded panels, moulded surround and bracketed gabled porch. Addition to left slightly set forward. Rear: rendered timber frame survives, underbuilt in brick. Cross wing to left with brackets supporting jettied gable. C18 small-paned first-floor (staircase) window to left of stack. Interior: square-panelled framed cross walls. Ground-floor room to left of stack: pair of chamfered ceiling beams. Large open fireplace with tooled dressed grey sandstone reveals and chamfered wooden lintel with shallow arch. Small salt cupboard. Groundfloor room to right of stack: pair of chamfered ceiling beams and C18 moulded cornice. Left-hand ground-floor room: pair of chamfered ceiling beams with ogee stops. Blocked fireplace with ogee-stopped chamfered wooden lintel. Pair of winder stairs to rear, that to right old. First floor room to left of stack with pair of ovolo-moulded beams. Old boarded cellar door with wrought-iron fleur-de-lys strap hinges. <1>

Documentary evidence reports on the sale of a mansion house at Ridgewardine in 1565 by the Hinton Family, which could refer to this property. Dates to c.1600, and built by the Church family of Nantwich. <2>

Detailed discussion of the history, construction and tenurial history of this building. Photographs of S., E., N. elevations, isometric view as in c.1600, N elevation drawing, plans of ground floor, first floor and attic, sections and drawing of attic stairs and interior, E elevation, ground and first floor plans and section of stable block.<3>

Description and Sources

Description

Canal Bridge. C.1830. Thomas Telford and Alexander Easton, engineers.

Dressed red/grey sandstone with tooled dressings. Elliptical arch with voussoirs and flush keystone. Hump-backed shape with chamfered string course and parapet with square end piers and rounded coping. Slightly battered and curved abutments. Cast-iron corner posts on towpath side with grooves caused by rope haulage. C20 oval metal number plate to south.

This stretch of the canal was built as part of the Birmingham and Liverpool Junction Canal (Act passed 1826, opened 1835) which was absorbed by the Ellesmere and Chester Canal in 1845 and eventually became part of the Shropshire Union in 1846.

Description and Sources

Description

A field containing extensive remains of ridge and furrow was identified by M Fradley in 2005 from perusal of NMR aerial photographic collections. In the NE corner of the field he also noted a large rectangular earthwork. Following a site visit in July 2005, coupled with documentary research, Mr Fradley interpreted the rectangular feature as the site of a grange farm held by Shrewsbury Abbey. He also noted the remains of an earth dam at the northern edge of the field. <1>

These earthwork features are discussed in more detail and an aerial photograph held in the NMR is reproduced. Site has been destroyed. These earthworks consisted of a large central platform, partially delineated by ditches and the steep fall of the ground to the west, with two smaller platforms to the east and south. To the east were extensive tracts of ridge and furrow, to the west were the remains of a large earth dam which held back a fishpond and may also have been part of a watermill complex. <2>

This earthwork complex is visible on LiDAR imagery and on 1999 aerial photography, although very little trace remains (the site appearing to have been levelled) on more recent aerial photography. <3><4><5>

FARMHOUSE (20th century - 1900 AD to 1999 AD)

Evidence EXTANT BUILDING

Description and Sources

Description

The farmhouse was formerly part of a large house, built on a medieval moated site in the early C17, which was largely demolished in the C19.

MATERIALS: Coursed stone and red brick with stone dressings with render and colour-wash and a plain tiled roof.

PLAN: The building is L-shaped, with a ground floor rooms and a staircase hall to the wing which runs east-west and two ground floor rooms to the north-south wing.

EXTERIOR: The south front is rendered and has C19 and C20 glazing with four-light and two-light casements, a gable to far left and a C20 gabled brick porch to left of centre. Extending at right is a single-storey block. The west front is of colour-washed brick and has mullioned windows with stone surrounds to both floors. There is a blocked three-light window to the ground floor and two three-light windows to the first floor which have had their mullions removed and contain C20 wooden casements. Also at ground floor level is a chamfered stone door surround which has been raised in height and now contains a glazed C20 door above which is a C20 cement lintel. At far left is a C19 projecting dairy wing. The east front has a projecting wing at left which is partially walled with coursed stone blocks. The range at right of this is of C17 brick with patches of early-C19 replacement brickwork and there is a two-light window to the first floor with a stone surround, which was formerly mullioned and now contains an inserted C20 window. To left of this and to the ground floor are inserted two- and three-light C20 casements. It is apparent that the roof has been raised by approximately two feet across the extent of this front. At far right is a projecting C20 addition with catslide roof. The north gable end has C17 walling to its lower body and has been rebuilt with C20 brick above. The ground floor has two inserted windows.

INTERIOR: There are substantial ceiling beams to the ground floor with end stops to the south-west facing room and ovolo mouldings to the edges of the south-east room. The entrance hallway on the south side contains portions of C17 panelling, including oval panels with pyramid bosses. This panelling appears to have been re-arranged with some later insertions. Inside the C19 dairy wing two lights of a mullioned window are exposed, in part of the original east front. The roof structure reuses much timber from the former roof including sizeable purlins and common rafters. The trusses take the form of kneed principals joined by collars to the southern wing and queen post trusses to the rear wing.

HISTORY: Bellaport Old Hall was the home of a branch of the Grosvenor family from the Middle Ages. In around 1600 the estate passed briefly to the Mainwarings of Ightfield and after 1634 to William Cotton, a draper of London. It was partially demolished in the C19. It stood within a square medieval moat. In the later C16 or early C17 the hall was remodelled, by which time it occupied the full width of the site. A formal garden was laid out within the moat in front of the house, with half of the space being given over to a parterre. A large part of the house appears to have been demolished in the C19, and by 1927-8 the surviving part was occupied as a farm house. ->

A Z-shaped isolated farmhouse, stuccoed. It was probably constructed from salvaged stone and brick from the old Bellaport which reputedly occupied the mound in the field in front of the house. The present house once had crow-stepped gables. Bellaport was the home of the Cotton family of Alkington Hall, Whitchurch. Photograph of exterior in 1927. <2>

Reputedly the Home Farm to Bellaport, it is brick-built with two small projecting wings and a recessed front. There is an abundance of curvilinear gables, which also occur on the stable-block. They are reminiscent of the crow-stepped gable treatment at Bellaport Old Hall and at Alkington Hall - clearly a Cotton preference. Like the Old Hall, the Hall Farm has the site of another house in close proximity. In this case it was known as Bellaport Towers on account of the many turrets it displayed.<3>

Description and Sources

Description

Loose Courtyard with farm buildings on three sides of the yard. Additional Plan Details: Additional detached elements to main plan. Date Evidence from Farmhouse: 19th Century. Date Evidence from Working Building(s): None. Position of Farmhouse: Detached, side on to yard. Farmstead Location: Loose farmstead cluster. Survival: Partial Loss - less than 50% change. Confidence: High.

Other Notes: Some Evidence for Conversion. One range of LC3 to E being repaired or re-roofed. Farm buildings converted to dwellings. Small pigsties by house lost. No longer in agricultural use. <1>

A building survey, at level 2 standard, was undertaken in 2004 of Ridgwardine Lower Farm, in association with considering development options for the farm. The farm appears to date to the first half of the 19th century, possibly associated with the enclosure of the surrounding farmland and the consequent division of the Ridgwardine Manor estate into tenanted farms. The farmhouse, south range, main barn and north range are described in detail. <2>

Description and Sources

Description

Regular Courtyard comprising an L- Plan range with detached buildings to the third side of the yard. Additional Plan Details: Presence of small second yard with one main yard evident. Date Evidence from Farmhouse: 19th Century. Date Evidence from Working Building(s): None.

Position of Farmhouse: Detached, side on to yard. Farmstead Location: Isolated. Survival: Partial Loss - less than 50% change. Confidence: High.

Other Notes: Large modern sheds to the side of the historic farmstead suggest that the farmstead is still in use. Located on edge of parkland. RCL3 extant. Second yard with one additional open fronted farm building onto the yard demolished. Yard area now used as tennis court. <1>

Historic England report on proposed listing in March 2019, where it is described as a mid 19th century model farm. Buildings described in detail. <2>

The farmhouse (PRN 34591), milking parlour, animal shelters, stores and cartsheds were listed at Grade II on 09/05/2019. The advice report describes the buildings in detail. The model farm is described as largely complete, well-preserved, and with the various functions clearly legible. The house contains good, if relatively sparse, internal features. <3>

-> This article establishes Betton as a case study in the development of trading and agricultural centres by monastic enterprise. It identifies earthworks to the NW (PRN 08673) as associated with this activity and charts the documentary evidence for its development. <1>

Description

First shown on the 1837 Tithe map for the parish of Drayton In Hales (SA Ref P972885/1). This shows a building fronting Maer Lane and a large, rectangular basin. The basin has been filled in by the time of the 1st edition Ordnance Survey map. The building fronting Maer Lane was recorded as extant on a site visit in June 2017; it appears to be 19th century in date and probably a former wharf cottage, to the south west of this is another lean to building against the road abutment, this is brick-built and appears on the 1st edition Ordnance Survey. <1>
